ABOUT ME

Hi, my name is Julie Zdravkovski and I'm the Modern Day Medium who has who offers business and career guidance as well as in-depth insights to assist organisations and their people move from a place of uncertainty to a space of empowerment.

Companies have been using corporate mediumship to gain an edge for many, many years. In the past, corporate mediumship was a lucrative commodity kept underground, however, now with a new found appreciation and level of connection for this work, alongside a deeper inner-knowing held by the majority, that there's a much greater energy source out there; organisations are tapping into this quantum field. The opportunity to gain powerful insights and harness this energy for expansion, creation and manifestation are endless. As a natural-born medium I've been fortunate to be able to communicate with Spirit from an early age.

My mediumship skills allow me to gain insights into past and present situations along with the possibilities of what will come to fruition in the future. I use this gift to help companies, managers, CEOs and employees make decisions with unwavering clarity but also help them make decision that are in alignment with the company's and individuals purpose and vision.

1. EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP - BUSINESS & INDUSTRY INSIGHTS

In the dynamic landscape of business, understanding the larger essence is vital. By embracing corporate mediumship, companies tap into a wellspring of knowledge and wisdom that transcends traditional approaches. Through this practice, organisations gain a heightened understanding of their industry's intricacies, enabling them to navigate challenges and seize opportunities with clarity and purpose.

Moreover, corporate mediumship goes beyond gathering market intelligence; it serves as a catalyst for building stronger connections within organisations. By embracing this practice, companies create an environment that fosters empathy, compassion, and collaboration among employees. The profound insights gained through mediumship allow for a deeper understanding of colleagues, customers, and stakeholders, leading to improved relationships and more effective decision-making.

Forward-thinking companies have come to recognise the profound value of corporate mediumship as an indispensable business tool. They leverage mediumship not only to gain deeper insights into their specific industry, competitors, and customers but also to foster connection and enhance empathy within their organisations.

In essence, corporate mediumship is emerging as an indispensable business tool, providing companies with a competitive advantage.

2. KEYNOTE SPEAKER

As a Keynote Speaker at your event, I share actionable, engaging, and unforgettable tips on the importance of Spiritual Awareness and understanding the energy, lessons and specific messages the Universe is sharing with us. Why me? I'm a Medium, Spiritual Empowerment Speaker & Mentor who offers guidance as well as in-depth insights to assist people to move from a place of uncertainty to a space of empowerment.

Plus I'm an experienced public speaker and have been invited to speak and deliver workshops on various Holistic, Wellbeing and Spiritual topics. I have spoken in front of large crowds and festivals such as; SuperBloom and Soul Star Festival, as well as being invited to partake in panel discussions, speaking to large crowds and intimate gatherings around various topics related to business, career, empowerment and mental health.

I have also been interviewed by wellbeing mentors on their podcast shows over the years, as well as appearing on the Matt & Alex Breakfast Show to speak as an expert in my field on Spirituality, Mediumship and Business, as well as offering detailed messages and prediction on specific topics and providing audience readings to callers over the phone which I had done regularly for some years on an American live-streaming radio show appearing monthly.

In addition to all this I am also part of a book collaboration project that will be published in early 2024 where I have a chapter dedicated to my transformational story and all proceeds from the book will go to charities supporting women find their voice after experiencing trauma.

With the ability to use my mediumship skills I am able to work specific to themes and topics. It allows for a higher perspective to be shared with an audience adding an interesting layer to a panel or event.

3. AD-HOC BUSINESS ADVICE

A modern-day business advisor. If you're stuck with making a decision or have a pitch that you're working on, or you can't make a decision if person A or person B will be a better fit for a project or your business, use this unique and rapid business advice process to tap into the quantum field to gain knowledge that will help guide you to make decisions with clarity and speed.

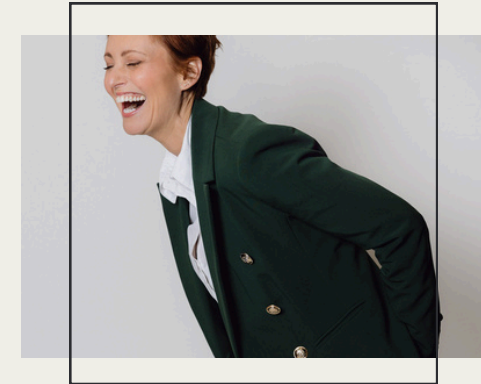

4. BRAINSTORMING FACILITATION

Are you looking for a facilitator who can help streamline your next brainstorming session?

Using my mediumship abilities I am able to bring through messages that assist and facilitate the process for leaders and managers during a brainstorming session making it more effective and efficient. This process involves creating a comfortable environment, encouraging participation and ensuring that discussion stays on topic and flows.

Being able to access information from the quantum realm is an effective method of idea generation and aligning everyone and the right ideas with the businesses goals and purpose which encourages collaboration and creativity.

Take your organisation's potential to a whole new level. Tapping into an energy that aligns with that of your business is a profound experience and can take your company from good to spectacular.

5. CONTENT CREATION: MEDIA, WRITING, PODCASTING

Brands are always looking for compelling content. I love working and using different platforms in order to provide a higher perspective and help create interesting / engaging content that helps everyone.

I have been interviewed by wellbeing mentors on their podcast shows over the years, as well as appearing on the Matt & Alex Breakfast Show to speak as an expert in my field on Spirituality, Mediumship and Business, as well as offering detailed messages and prediction on specific topics and providing audience readings over the phone without seeing them in-person, as I regularly do on my American radio show monthly.

There are so many creative ways content can be produced. Reach out and together we can work out how I can be of value

Thank you!

I LOOK FORWARD TO DISCOVERING WHAT POSSIBILITIES AWAIT YOU AND YOUR BUSINESS.
